Keep in Step with the Spirit ~ From the Principal's desk

Awesome God is Good to All

"The LORD is good to all; he has compassion on all he has made." (Psalm 145:9)

God gives to each person exactly what they need. He sends the rain, sunshine, (snow) as is best for all. Even though all have sinned, he sent Jesus to make the payment for all sins, of all people, of all time. God wants all people to be saved and gives each person an opportunity to repent. From the worst of criminals or the least important, he is good to all only because he is gracious. What a comfort to know. Since God is good to all, that means he is also good to me.

It also means that since God is good to all, we, his people, can certainly do the same. We reflect God's love in our lives by taking time to be good to those that may otherwise be forgotten. How can we teach our children to be good to all?

First of all, point out the goodness of God to your children in their everyday lives. On a sunny day remind them, "God has given us a great day. He is so good to us." On a rainy day remind them, "God is giving us rain to wash away the winter dirt." When our children see God's goodness in their lives, they will be more apt to share that goodness with others. Secondly, plan opportunities as a family to be good to others. Visit the elderly together, rake a neighbor's leaves together, or have your children help in making a meal for a neighbor that needs help. Our encouragement and example will help our children reflect God's love in their lives, too.
